

Inter-est Estimating Update

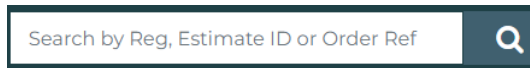

We are making changes to Inter-est. We will do this in stages. This is stage one, which has mostly cosmetic changes, but also opens estimates in a separate browser tab.

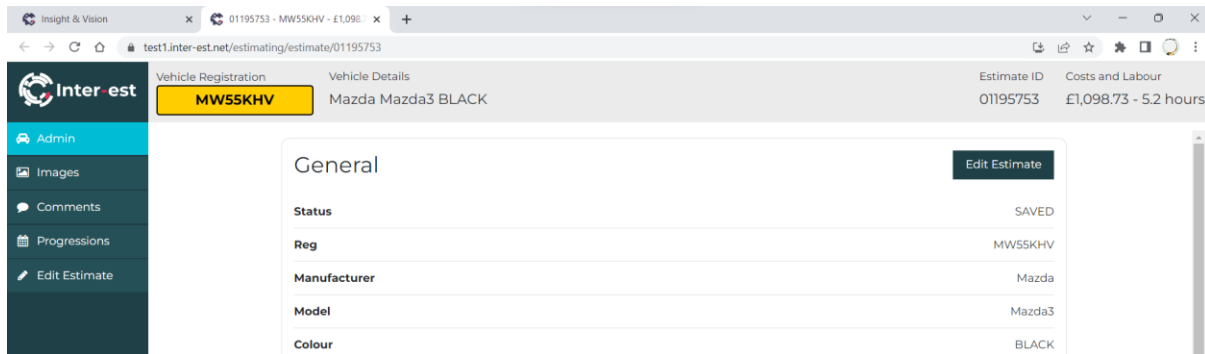

When you first login you may notice that Insight has a new green colour scheme. and the following filters no longer appear, giving more space for more estimates...

You will still have the search facility

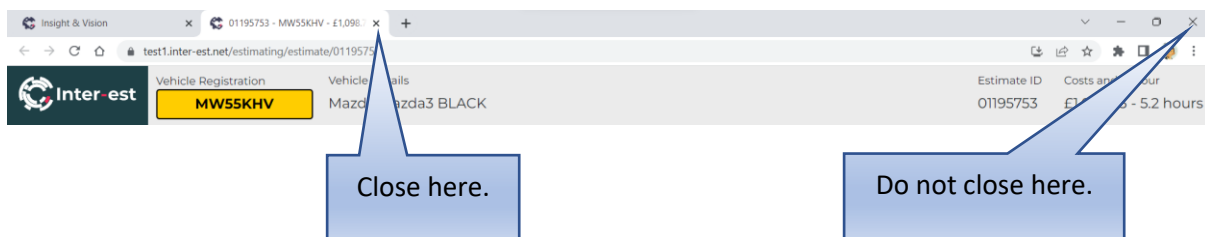

When you click on an Estimate ID to open an estimate, as you currently do, you will be presented with a change of screen layout. The tabs that were previously displayed across the top, will now appear in the left column as they do in Insight (the list of estimates)...

Clicking on Images, Comments and Progressions will bring up the same views you are using now. Clicking the Edit Estimate button in the top right as shown in the above image will launch Vision as would clicking on the Edit Estimate tab.

Once you have finished with an estimate, as they are now tabs in your internet browser, you need to close only the tab to return to Insight (the list of estimates).

The advantage of the estimates opening in separate tabs is that you can have more than one estimate open at once. This might sound confusing, but each estimate will show the vehicle details in the header bar making it easy to spot which estimate you are in, see example image above.

Finally, this is only the first step towards the release of significant user-friendly improvements in the coming months, all designed to make using Inter-est even easier.
